

Start your apprenticeship while you play.

BCITO FOR PROFESSIONAL SPORTSPEOPLE

BCITO ENTERPRISE PACKAGE

BCITO has introduced a new opportunity for professional sportspeople to start working your way through a BCITO carpentry qualification while you continue your professional playing pathway.

If you are playing professional rugby for a Super Rugby, National Sevens, Black Ferns or All Blacks team you are able to make a start on your apprenticeship theory studies while still playing.

Under the traditional apprenticeships scheme you had to have a full-time job in building & construction, but due to this level of sporting commitment this is not possible, therefore BCITO has come up with a solution – the new BCITO Enterprise Package.

Under the new BCITO Enterprise Package you can work your way through BCITO resources to learn the theory aspects of the carpentry qualification by completing manageable module blocks of learning to gain NZQA registered credits. You are supported and assessed by a local BCITO Training Advisor and the credits that you gain will contribute to your carpentry apprenticeship.

You can then complete the practical side of your apprenticeship when you have a break from the game or have exited the game.

Pricing is available on enquiry. (Note: Fees free study is not available for the BCITO Enterprise Package.)

BCITO TRADITIONAL APPRENTICESHIP

BCITO also offers traditional apprenticeships which most players are able to start while still playing at an Academy, Farah Palmer Cup or Mitre 10 Cup level.

However, if you are contracted for Mitre 10 Cup, you are able to put your apprenticeship 'on hold' during the Mitre 10 Cup or you can talk to your Personal Development Manager and arrange to do your bookwork during your Personal Development time during the season.

For the traditional apprenticeship, FEES FREE study is available for eligible learners enrolled in an eligible qualification. To find out if you are eligible for Fees Free you will need to apply at feesfree.govt.nz
